

Dr Ghosh elected Fellow of Royal Society of Chemistry UK

PANAJI: Dr Narendra Nath Ghosh, Associate Professor of Department of Chemistry, BITS Pilani K K Birla Goa campus, has been elected as Fellow of the Royal Society of Chemistry (FRSC), London, UK. This prestigious fellowship is awarded through election in recognition of his academic contribution to the field of Chemistry.

Dr Ghosh has been selected for his 20 years of research efforts in basic and applied science which resulted in the development of novel synthetic methodologies for preparation of varieties of nanostructured materials for various applications, such as advanced catalysts, sensors, microwave absorber, advanced magnetic materials, water pollution, energy storage devices, etc.

His research contributions in the areas of nanomaterials have already been well recognized worldwide, and he has published more than 100 research articles in high-impact international journals, book chapters, and conference proceedings. His research work has been funded by several National funding agencies (DRDO, DST, CSIR, BRNS, DAE-UGC) as well as international funding agencies (such as Royal Academy of Engineering (UK), British council, UKIERI).

He also works very closely with the scientists of various national research organizations, like Defence Lab Jodhpur, IGCAR Kalpakkam, National Centre Compositional Characterisation of Material Hyderabad, etc.

As a visiting professor and scientist Dr Ghosh collaborates with the scientists of various foreign universities, such as Drexel University (USA), University of Tennessee Knoxville (USA), University of Leeds (UK), University Birmingham (UK), Istanbul Technical University (Turkey), etc.
